

January 4 , 2017 National Spaghetti Day

Date When Held : Always January 4

Today is National Spaghetti Day. Osgood Team knows that one of the most special and critical areas of a home is the kitchen! This is where the family comes together, where the party always congregates to, where the homework is done, where games are played, where families talk, and where most people feel happy! When you choose Osgood Team we will find you that perfect kitchen, where you can whip up your own special spaghetti recipe.

Spaghetti is one of over 600 shapes of pasta. Many think of spaghetti as an Italian cuisine, but pasta, or macaroni, dates back to ancient times. Arab cultures were selling dried spaghetti-like noodles in open markets in the early 1200's, and the Chinese were cooking pasta noodles as far back as 5,000 B.C.

We hope you go into the kitchen and cook up a fabulous bowl of spaghetti today, but if you don't feel like cooking you can always try one of Parker's amazing local Italian restaurants.

We are never too busy for you referrals!
